O'FARRELL'S TRIAL.

From the South Australian Register. The witnesses for the prosecution merely recapitulated the evidence given at the preliminary inquiry. For the defence several witnesses were called yesterday, who proved that O'Farrel suffered from opiloptic fits and !- lelirium tremens, and that he had on one occasion only spoken in favor of Fenianism

The Crown to day called rebuttng witnesses, who proved that in frequent conversations O'Farrell had expressed himself attonaly; also that they had heard him defeading Fenianism generally, and the Clerkonwell outrage particularly. No professionional witnesswere called.

Mr. Aspinall commenced his address at 11 o'clock, and arged the prisoner's insenity. At half-past 13 Mr. Martin re
